Upterrlainerluta at Yuut Elitnaurviat (we are always getting ready at Yuut Elitnaurviat). When opportunities to improve the quality of the lives of our family or region come along, we welcome them with open arms. At YE, our board continues to give back to the region with opportunities in vocational training and economic development. After 10 years of planning and working with different organizations, the Yuut Elitnaurviat Aviation Maintenance Technician School opened its doors in April with 8 students. None of this could be possible without the help of our Congressional Delegation and our State Legislators, or the new partners that we have found along the way. Alaska Airlines, Donlin Gold, and Lynden, Inc. have all reached out because they understand that in order for them to successfully operate in the Yukon-Kuskokwim Delta region, they need to have local people trained who will live and work in the area. Along with all of our partner organizations, we continue to give back and get ready for the next local job training opportunities for our people. We are finishing the last details of our campus expansion and anticipate beginning the first phase late this summer. Our doors are always open, and we encourage the public to drop by and work with us for all of your workforce development needs.
